

Important Legal Disclaimers and Notes for the use of the websites and app(s) of Incision.

Please read the following notes and disclaimers carefully BEFORE (i) using the Incision App(s) and websites (including, without limitation, www.incision.care and academy.incision.care) and/or (ii) following any training or instructions on Incision's websites and app(s)

Incision provides an online learning platform which enables users to access a variety of contents (including, without limitation, video, audio, images, 3D-models, texts, comments, notes or other formats, together referred to as "Content") through Incision's websites and app(s). All Contents provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps are offered "as is". All Contents were created for educational purposes or training only under the condition that Users always rely on the Instructions (as defined below) of the original manufacturer or partner. Incision's websites/app(s) are NOT a substitute for formal medical education as provided at a Medical School, Hospital or a comparable institution.

Incision does not warrant the accuracy or completeness of the Contents provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps. Video contents, in particular, have been carefully prepared and presented by authors who are experts in the particular subject area. The authors use reasonable efforts to keep the respective Contents accurate and up-to-date but neither Incision or partners of Incision guarantee accuracy or completeness of such Content. Incision, its partners and the authors shall not be liable for any errors or omissions or for any actions taken in reliance thereon.

Incision does not warrant that the Contents provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps are complete, true, non-misleading or up-to-date. Incision shall NOT be liable for any errors or delays in the Contents, or for any actions taken in reliance thereon.

To the fullest extent permitted by law: (i) Incision is not liable for any Content added by Incision, its customers, partners or users of the websites and the apps and (ii) Incision disclaims all warranties, either expressly or implied, statutory or otherwise, including (but not limited to) the implied warranties of merchantability, non-infringement or third parties' rights, and fitness for a particular purpose.

Operator Manual or Instructions for Use (together the "Instructions") are leading Instructions issued by the original manufacturer of the relevant medical devices, product, software or hardware (together referred to as the "Products") are leading. Especially where Incision has created own Content and made this Content available on Incision's websites and app(s), such Content should solely be seen as a reference and/or a summary of the original Instructions of the Products and the User of the websites and app(s) should always refer to the Instructions of the Products for the correct use of these Products.

All learning material / Content for use of the Products is for educational and training purposes only. It is no substitute for the full training to be followed or the full Instructions for the use of the Products. Any material used in the training will not be updated on a regular basis and does not necessarily reflect the latest correct use of the relevant Product available at the time of the creation of the Content.

The Instructions should be used by you as your main reference in the correct use of the Products. Be aware that certain functionalities of the Products might not (yet) be available in your territory. Please contact your local partner of the relevant medical devices, software or hardware for the most up to date information relating to the Content.

No endorsements

Some of the content provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps may contain names of particular physicians, healthcare providers, product providers or medical products. Incision does not recommend or endorse any specific treatment, particular physician, products, healthcare providers, procedures, opinions, tests, or other information that may be mentioned on Incision's websites and apps. Statements concerning the recommendation or endorsement as outlined above are provided as part of the content on Incision's websites and apps and are based on the experiences of individuals or health professionals. The user's individual experiences may deviate from that. None of those statements necessarily reflect the opinions or views of Incision.

No Medical Advice

The content provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. Users or individuals seeking advice for health-related problems should always seek the advice of their physician or other qualified healthcare provider. The content provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps is no substitute for an individual's health assessment based upon a professional medical examination of the individual, the consideration of corresponding laboratory data, and other factors that are unique to the individual. Never disregard any professional medical advice or delay in seeking it because of information you have gained from Incision's websites and apps. Reliance on any information provided by Incision's websites and apps, Incision's employees, contracted writers, or medical professionals is solely at the user's own risk.

Similarly, medical professionals should not rely upon any content provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps to make medical decisions, or to provide any kind of healthcare service. By providing content, Incision is not engaged in the practice of medicine, nursing, or the provision of any healthcare service. Incision will not exercise any control or influence over the medical judgment or decision making of any user in providing healthcare services to his/her patients. Each medical professional user is solely responsible for all medical judgment and decision making in respect to the provision of healthcare services to his/her patients.

Online availability

Incision will use reasonable efforts to provide access to its websites and apps at any time. However, Incision does not guarantee access to the site in case of viruses/software errors/other technical or natural catastrophes that cannot be repaired in spite of a reasonable effort. Scheduled maintenance and problems out of the control of Incision can cause the site to be temporarily unavailable. If necessary, Incision reserves the right to withdraw subscriptions and the complete site. If this ever becomes necessary, users will only pay for the time of their subscriptions that has elapsed.

Contents may be perceived as offensive

The content provided on or accessed through Incision's websites and apps contains health- or medical-related material, including, without limitation, cadaver material, surgical footage, material showing nude humans, or sexually explicit disease states. Users who find this material offensive, disgusting, or disturbing may not want to use this websites and apps. Accessing contents at Incision's websites and apps is always taken at the user's own risk.

External Links

Herewith we explicitly dissociate ourselves from all contents of pages on other websites to which links have been created from our sites, and we decline any responsibility for the content of these pages.

Exclusion of liability:

The information that is available on websites and apps of Incision was examined carefully and updated regularly. However no guarantee can be given for the information provided being up-to-date, correct or complete. This specifically applies to all links that refer to other websites directly and indirectly. We reserve all rights to complete, delete and/or change any data without previous announcement.

Copyright:

All brands, trademarks, product names and product specifications are unrestrictedly subject to the provisions of the respectively valid trademark legislation and the ownership rights of the respective registered owners.